Dear Parents,

I do know I often start my weekly newsletters with the phrase 'what a busy week!' but it is SO true, we have had another busy week at Hawkinge Primary School!

Last week ended with a 'Family Learning Event.' Parents and children came to work together on art and craft activities on Saturday morning, painting African landscapes, ceramic painting, playing the Djembe drums and creating a big chalk picture in the playground with Mr Metcalf amongst other things! (The rain came down minutes after it was finished!) Thanks to everyone who attended the event and a special thanks to the staff who gave up Saturday morning to run this event - it is really appreciated!

On Monday evening Mr O'Brien and I were lucky enough to be able to attend a drama event at Brockhill School. Miss Milborrow and Miss Ledwith have been hosting a drama club for the last term, and the children were given the opportunity to perform their play in a theatre at Brockhill. The children did a super job! Their play was funny, the children spoke and performed really clearly, and the audience seemed to really enjoy it. It was a wonderful way to start the week! Thanks to Miss Ledwith, Miss Milborrow, Mrs Chown and the children for all their hard work.

On Tuesday and Wednesday some of the World Cup madness came to Hawkinge Primary School. Mr O'Brien hosted our very own world cup tournament (vuvuzelas were not allowed!) The children had a great time. It was very funny to watch the children from Miss Fosters and Ms Thompsons classes play their first football match - all chasing after the ball, and not being too sure which end was their own goal... but they all had a great time!

On Wednesday evening Miss Dawe held the first Parent Forum meeting. She reports back that there were some good discussions, I am sure we will hear more about that as the term goes on.

By the time you receive this newsletter, our annual arts and geography performance in the community centre will be all over. The children have had a great 3 weeks learning about other countries; their art, culture and geography. I hope you managed to get over to see their performances.

We are all ready for the weekend!

Family Learning weekend.

If you painted any pots from Amazing Glaze at the weekend they will be ready for collection from Mr O'Brien's office from Monday morning!

Here comes the sun!

I am optimistic that we will have a couple of sunny weeks ahead of us. If that is the case please make sure your child comes to school covered in sun cream, or at least with some sun cream to protect their skin on these hot days. Mrs Crook has got caps for sale at £2:50 in the school office if you would like one.

Money Saving tip of the week

Use auction sites like EBAY to get rid of unwanted items, it does look daunting when you try to set up account but don't give up. Once registered its so easy to sell on there and the pleasure you get from making a few pounds from your old rubbish is great!!!!

Remember:

Once a week, take a peek!
